SALES & MARKETING SOLUTIONS

“The best marketing doesn't feel like marketing.

— Tom Fishburne, CEO, Marketoonist

We think Tom said it best. Though he may have been talking about Content Marketing in particular, we believe this works for Digital Marketing on the whole. Marketing is at its best when your target audience does not feel like it's being marketed to, when your message isn't forced on them. And Digital Marketing, when done right, comes the closest to achieving that.

Digital Marketing is for All Companies, Big and Small

It used to be that marketing was something only big companies had a budget for. With Digital Marketing, smaller businesses can join the game and go after their slice of the online market.

Digital Marketing is Real-Time and Targeted

Gain insight on what your customers really want and engage more effectively as you get to interact with them at the exact times they have interest and questions about your product.

Digital Marketing is Mobile

Never miss an opportunity to be there for your audience. With Digital Marketing, you are always within arm's reach of your target audience, literally.

Build. Attract. Engage.

Website Design and Development

With your website, you hold the power not just to inform but to provide an experience. In the B2B market, over 90% of buyers research online before making their decision. And they decide based not only on how your website looks but how easy it is to use as well. Product information, if not intuitively accessible to your website visitor, might as well not be there at all. Navigation and function are critical to conversion of that highly valued website traffic into leads or sales.

Search Engine Optimization

After spending all that time and effort on building, you now have a user-friendly website packed with great content. Congratulations! The next crucial step is to make sure your site generates the right amount and the right kind of traffic. That's where search engine optimization (SEO) comes in. SEO makes your website visible to search engines like Google, so that prospects looking for your product or service can easily find you. Keep in mind that 93% of B2B decision makers start their buying journey with a search engine query, so you can't afford to ignore SEO.

Social Media Marketing

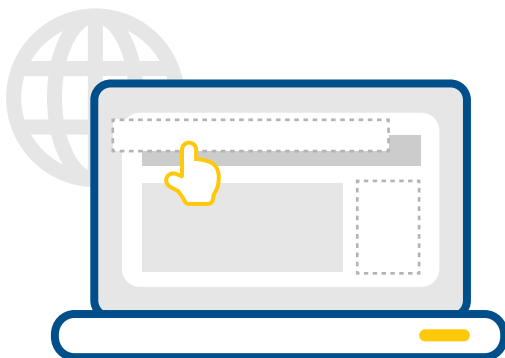

Now that you've established an online presence, it's time to proactively reach out to your target audience. Social media marketing gives plenty of opportunities for you to interact with prospects and customers, from promoting your content, all the way to building a community around your brand. It's an effective way to boost your online visibility and develop relationships with prospects, especially since 72% of B2B buyers use social media when researching a solution.

Website Design and Development

We can't say enough how crucial your website's design is to your success. A research study of online health sites revealed that when it comes to factors that cause an audience to mistrust a website, 94% of respondents cited design elements over content as more influential of their mistrust. This should come as no surprise because we know that before anything else, we buy with our eyes.

This isn't to say that having a website that looks good is enough. Website design is more than just colors and cool graphics. Good website design takes into account the visitors' experience. Apart from impressing your guest with how great everything looks, we make sure your guests get around with ease, finding what they want when they need it. An effective combination of great aesthetics and usability translates to successful web design.

With decades of experience, our talented team of web designers and developers are proficient in the website creation process and know what makes for good website design and a great website-browsing experience:

1. Full client collaboration
2. Intuitive navigation and usability
3. SEO-friendly site structure
4. Responsive design for devices
5. Ease in updating via CMS

WEBSITE DESIGN AND DEVELOPMENT

We design with a purpose - YOUR purpose.

We are here not just to build your website for the sake of having it up and running by the deadline. We build it to answer the challenges you face and help you establish a solid and lasting online presence for years to come.
